

Global Connections

Being a global citizen means being culturally aware. This means that you like to learn about the world and other people's language, culture, food, homes, history and more!

Chances are, you know someone who knows a bit about another country outside of Ireland. Connect with other people by asking about their experiences in other countries and see if they say 'Yes' to the sentences in the table below. You can ask a family member at home, call a grandparent, friend or teacher, or even ask your classmates online. Try to get a different person to answer each question if possible. Then, finish by answering the 2 questions at the bottom of the page yourself.
