

Climate Action Pledge

Pledge: a promise or commitment to

Irish Aid, the government of Ireland's overseas development cooperation programme, works with governments and communities in developing countries to take climate action. We do this by supporting:

- The conservation (saving or protecting) of soil, water, plants and wildlife
- The planting of more trees
- Training people in earth- friendly farming practices
- Telling the world what is happening and what solutions are needed

Every year we pledge to take Climate Action (Global Goal 13), so we can help make our world a better place by 2030. But it's not just the Irish Government and big organisations that create positive change. Everyone can play a part, and that includes you!

Young people have shown courage, innovation and resolve in regards to climate action.
...President Michael D. Higgins, in a speech at the United Nations in September 2019.

Now that you have learned about ways you can help our earth, it's time to take action! Can you think of one or two things you can start doing at home to better our planet? Even the smallest change is a start.
